News from the Committee on National Statistics

PEOPLE NEWS

>We noted in our November “news” that John Galvin of BLS and Rosemary Marcuss of BEA received Presidential Rank Meritorious Executive awards on September 30, 2008. We were remiss in not also noting that Peggy Carr received a Meritorious Executive award for her service as associate commissioner for assessment of the National Center for Education Statistics. Presidential Rank awards are given to members of the Senior Executive Service for distinguished service (achievement of extraordinary results) and meritorious service (sustained accomplishment). Award winners are chosen through a rigorous selection process. They are nominated by their agency heads, evaluated by boards comprised of private citizens, and approved by the President. The evaluation criteria (see <http://www.opm.gov/ses/performance/rankaward.asp>) focus on leadership and results.

>We acknowledge with great appreciation and respect the contributions to the federal statistical system of Steven Murdock, who has returned to Rice University as Professor of Sociology after an eventful year as director of the U.S. Census Bureau. Tom Mesenbourg, who became the Census Bureau’s deputy director, October 7, 2008, is acting director.

REPORTS RELEASED

109th Meeting of the Committee on National Statistics—Special Symposium

THE FEDERAL STATISTICAL SYSTEM— RECOGNIZING ITS CONTRIBUTIONS; MOVING IT FORWARD

Joint Symposium of the Committee on National Statistics and the American Academy of Political and Social Science

Co-sponsored by:

American Association of Public Opinion Research, American Statistical Association,
Association of Population Centers, Consortium of Social Science Associations,
Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics,
Population Association of America, SAGE Publications, Inc.

The National Academies
NAS Building – Auditorium and Great Hall – 2100 C St NW
Washington, DC

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 2009

“If we could first know where we are and whither we are tending, we could then better judge what to do, and how to do it.”
--Abraham Lincoln

As the new administration takes office, it is vitally important that attention is paid to the Federal Statistical System and its role as a vital part of the nation’s decision making and scientific infrastructure. This conference will focus on how dependent governing is on the products of the Federal Statistical System, from the apportionment/redistricting process to health care and immigration reform and economic regulation. It will also address visions for the future to keep the Federal Statistical System—a key national treasure—best positioned to serve the policy making, planning, and research needs of the 21st century.

AGENDA [draft]

News from the Committee on National Statistics

REPORT RELEASED

>Principles and Practices for a Federal Statistical Agency, Fourth Edition, the Committee's white paper, first issued in 1992, was publicly released on March 11, 2009. The fourth edition identifies four principles for an effective statistical agency: production of objective information that is relevant to issues of public policy; credibility among data users; trust among data providers; and a strong position of independence from the appearance and reality of political control. The fourth edition also discusses 11 important practices that are means for a statistical agency to live up to the four principles: they include a commitment to quality and professional practice and an active program of methodological and substantive research. A limited number of copies are available from the Committee. The report can be read online and copies may be purchased at http://www.nap.edu/catalog.php?record\_id=12564.

THE FEDERAL STATISTICAL SYSTEM— RECOGNIZING ITS CONTRIBUTIONS; MOVING IT FORWARD

Joint Symposium of the Committee on National Statistics and the American Academy of Political and Social Science

Co-sponsored by:

American Association of Public Opinion Research, American Statistical Association,
Association of Population Centers, Association of Public Data Users,
Consortium of Social Science Associations,
Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics,
Population Association of America, SAGE Publications

The National Academies
NAS Building – Auditorium and Great Hall – 2100 C St NW
Washington, DC

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 2009

“If we could first know where we are and whither we are tending, we could then better judge what to do, and how to do it.”
--Abraham Lincoln

As the new administration takes office, it is critically important that attention is paid to the Federal Statistical System and its role as a vital part of the nation's decision making and scientific infrastructure. This conference will focus on how dependent governing is on the products of the Federal Statistical System, from the apportionment/redistricting process to health care and immigration reform and economic regulation. It will also address visions for the future to keep the Federal Statistical System—a key national treasure—best positioned to serve the policy making, planning, and research needs of the 21st century.

PEOPLE NEWS

>We wish Tom Petska all the best on his retirement as director of the Statistics of Income Division of the Internal Revenue Service. Tom contributed 28 years of service to SOI and 8 years of service to the Bureau of Economic Analysis and the Social Security Administration. We thank him for his contributions to his agency and the statistical system as a whole.

>We welcome Nancy Kirkendall to the CNSTAT staff. She has accepted a part-time appointment as a senior program officer and will direct a study for the Food and Nutrition Service of USDA on using the American Community Survey to develop small-area estimates of children who are eligible for school meal programs. Nancy had a distinguished career in federal statistics before retiring from the Energy Information Administration as director of the Statistics and Methods Group in January 2008.

THE FEDERAL STATISTICAL SYSTEM— RECOGNIZING ITS CONTRIBUTIONS; MOVING IT FORWARD

Joint Symposium of the Committee on National Statistics and the American Academy of Political and Social Science

Co-sponsored by:

American Association of Public Opinion Research, American Statistical Association,
Association of Population Centers, Association of Public Data Users,
Consortium of Social Science Associations,
Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics,
Population Association of America, SAGE Publications

The National Academies
NAS Building – Auditorium and Great Hall – 2100 C St NW
Washington, DC

FRIDAY, MAY 8, 2009

“If we could first know where we are and whither we are tending, we could then better judge what to do, and how to do it.”
--Abraham Lincoln

As the new administration takes office, it is critically important that attention is paid to the Federal Statistical System and its role as a vital part of the nation's decision making and scientific infrastructure. This conference will focus on how dependent governing is on the products of the Federal Statistical System, from the apportionment/redistricting process to health care and immigration reform and economic regulation. It will also address visions for the future to keep the Federal Statistical System—a key national treasure—best positioned to serve the policy making, planning, and research needs of the 21st century.

News from the Committee on National Statistics

PEOPLE NEWS

>We congratulate Rebecca Blank on her confirmation as Under Secretary for Economic Affairs at the U.S. Department of Commerce, with oversight responsibility for the Bureau of Economic Analysis and the Census Bureau. Among her many public service contributions, she served as a member of the CNSTAT panel that produced the report Measuring Poverty: A New Approach (1995), chaired the CNSTAT panel that produced the report Measuring Racial Discrimination (2004), and served on the Advisory Committee for CNSTAT's parent unit, the Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education (DBASSE). She was a senior fellow at Brookings and before that dean of the Ford School of Public Policy at the University of Michigan. She is giving the President's Invited Address at the August 2009 Joint Statistical Meetings in Washington, DC.

REPORT RELEASED

>Gender Differences at Critical Transitions in the Careers of Science, Engineering, and Mathematics Faculty, the final report of the Committee on Gender Differences in Careers of Science, Engineering, and Mathematics Faculty, chaired by Claude Canizares, MIT, and Sally Shaywitz, Yale, and including CNSTAT member Alicia Carriquiry, Iowa State University, was publicly released in prepublication format on June 2, 2009. The report includes original research results from two surveys. The study was joint between the Committee on Women in Science, Engineering, and Medicine of the NRC Policy and Global Affairs Division and CNSTAT and funded by the National Science Foundation's Division of Science Resources Statistics. The prepublication report is available for purchase and reading at http://www.nap.edu/catalog.php?record\_id=12062).

CNSTAT MEETINGS

We have had several inquiries about CNSTAT's meeting schedule and so provide our meeting dates through May 2011:

- CNSTAT's 110th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, October 29-30, 2009. The venue is the Keck Center at 500 5th St. NW. The format will be a business meeting on Thursday, from 9:00 am – 5:15 am, followed by a dinner for members and guests. Friday morning will be a business meeting, beginning at 8:30 am, followed by lunch with the statistical agency heads at 12:30 and a public seminar from 2:00 – 4:00 pm, ending with a reception.

News from the Committee on National Statistics

PEOPLE NEWS

>We congratulate Robert Groves on his confirmation as director of the U.S. Census Bureau on July 13, 2009. Among his many public service contributions, he served two terms on CNSTAT, chaired its panel to review the programs of the Bureau of Justice Statistics, and served on half a dozen additional panels and workshops. He was professor of sociology and director of the Survey Research Center at the University of Michigan.

>We note with regret the death of Marie Eldridge, aged 83, on June 13, 2009. She had a varied career in federal statistics, working for the Social Security Administration and the Bureau of Labor Statistics before joining what is now the Postal Service in the 1960s. She was director of the Office of Statistics and Analysis of the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration in the early 1970s and became he administrator of the Department of Education's National Center for Education Statistics in 1978. In 1984 she became a director at the Research Triangle Institute. She was a past president of the Washington Statistical Society.

>We congratulate the following newly elected Fellows of the American Statistical Association:

- John M. Abowd, Cornell University, Ithaca, NY (member of CNTAT Panels on Expanding Access to Research Data and Understanding Business Dynamics);
- William P. Butz, Population Reference Bureau, Washington, DC;
- Stephen H. Cohen, National Science Foundation, Division of Science Resources Statistics, Arlington, VA;
- Julia I. Lane, National Science Foundation, Arlington, VA;
- Daniel O. Scharfstein, John Hopkins Bloomberg School of Public Health, Baltimore (member of CNSTAT Panel on Missing Data in Clinical Trials);
- Gary Shapiro, Westat, Rockville, MD;
- Christopher A. Sims, Princeton University, Princeton (NAS member and former CNSTAT member); and
- Duane L. Steffey, Exponent Inc., Menlo Park (former CNSTAT study director for Counting People in the Information Age [National Research Council, 1994]).

>We congratulate Christine Bachrach, acting director of the Office of Behavioral and Social Sciences Research at the National Institutes of Health, who received the Population Association of America's Robert J. Lapham award in April 2009 for "distinguished contributions to population research, the application of demographic knowledge to improve the human condition, and service to the population profession."

>We congratulate Lynda Carlson, director of the National Science Foundation's Division of Science Resources Statistics, who is the recipient of the 2009 Roger Herriot Award for Innovation in Federal Statistics, which is sponsored by the Washington Statistical Society and the Government and Social Statistics Sections of the American Statistical Association.

>We welcome Esha Sinha to the CNSTAT staff as an associate program officer. She is completing her Ph.D. in economics at SUNY Binghamton under the direction of former CNSTAT study director Ed

Kokkelenberg. She starts work with us on a part-time basis July 27 and will become full-time in January 2010.

>We will very likely be looking for a full-time study director—program officer or senior program officer, depending on experience—for one or more new projects in the fall. We welcome suggestions of candidates to consider. For information, the National Academies hires program officers at a salary range that approximates a GS-12 in the DC area; it hires senior program officers at a salary range that approximates a GS-13/14 in the DC area.

REPORT RELEASED

>Ensuring the Quality, Credibility, and Relevance of U.S. Justice Statistics, the final report of the Panel to Review the Programs of the Bureau of Justice Statistics, chaired by Robert Groves, was publicly released in prepublication format on July 10, 2009. The study was joint with the Committee on Law Justice and funded by the Bureau of Justice Statistics. The press release for the report is at <http://www8.nationalacademies.org/onpinews/newsitem.aspx?RecordID=12671>; the report text can be read at http://www.nap.edu/catalog.php?record\_id=12671.

CNSTAT MEETINGS

>CNSTAT will have a substantial presence at the Joint Statistical Meetings to be held August 1-6, 2009, in Washington, DC. Cynthia Clark, Bob Groves, Hermann Habermann, Nancy Kirkendall, and Kathy Wallman are on a panel organized by CNSTAT, to be chaired by Bill Eddy, on “Opportunities and Challenges for the Federal Statistical System for the Next 5-10 Years.” The panel is scheduled for Thursday, August 6, at 10:30 am in Room CC-101 of the Walter E. Washington Convention Center. We will also be exhibiting throughout the meetings with display copies and order forms for many of our reports. We are booth number 420; please stop by and see us.

>We have had several inquiries about CNSTAT’s regular meeting schedule and so provide our meeting dates through May 2011:

- CNSTAT’s 110th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, October 29-30, 2009. The venue is the Keck Center at 500 5th St. NW. The format will be a business meeting on Thursday, from 9:00 am – 5:15 pm, followed by a dinner for members and guests. Friday morning will be a business meeting, beginning at 8:30 am, followed by lunch with the statistical agency heads at 12:30 pm and a public seminar from 2:00 – 4:00 pm, followed by a reception.
- CNSTAT’s 111th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, February 11-12, 2010, in Washington, DC. The format will be business on Thursday from 9:00 – 5:15, followed by a dinner for members and guests, and business on Friday, from 8:00 – 1:30. There are no public events at this meeting.
- CNSTAT’s 112th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, May 6-7, 2010, in Washington, DC. The format will be the same as the October 2009 meeting, including a public seminar on the 7th.
- CNSTAT’s 113th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, October 21-22, 2010, in Washington, DC. Note the change from the last to the second-to-last Thu-Fri in October, which will be our formula for future October meetings. The format will include a public seminar on the 22nd.

- CNSTAT's 114th meeting will be held Friday and Saturday, February 11-12, 2011, at the Beckman Center in Irvine, CA. The format will be retreat business on Friday from noon – 5:30, followed by a dinner for members and guests, and retreat business on Saturday from 8:30 – 5:30, followed by a dinner for members and guests. There are no public events at this meeting.
- CNSTAT's 115th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, May 5-6, 2011, in Washington, DC. The format will include a public seminar on the 6th.

News from the Committee on National Statistics

PEOPLE NEWS

>We welcome two new members of CNSTAT, whose terms began July 1, 2009—Lisa Lynch and Sallie Keller. We also welcome back for second terms, beginning July 1, Bill DuMouchel, Joe Hotz, Karen Kafadar, Joe Newhouse, and Alan Zaslavsky. All CNSTAT members (and all members of National Academies study committees) serve pro bono, and we appreciate their public service.

Dr. Lynch is dean and professor of economics at the Heller School for Social Policy and Management, Brandeis University. From 1995-1997 she was the chief economist at the U.S. Department of Labor, and she has been a faculty member at Tufts University, M.I.T., The Ohio State University, and the University of Bristol. She is currently chair of the Board of Directors of the Boston Federal Reserve Bank and a member of the Governor's Council of Economic Advisors for the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. She is also a research associate at the National Bureau of Economic Research, the Economic Policy Institute, and IZA in Bonn, Germany. She has published extensively on issues such as the impact of technological change and organizational innovation (especially training) on productivity and wages, the determinants of youth unemployment, and the school to work transition. She received her B.A. in economics and political science from Wellesley College and her M.Sc. and Ph.D. in economics from the London School of Economics. She co-chaired with CNSTAT member John Haltiwanger the CNSTAT panel that produced the 2007 report, Understanding Business Dynamics: An Integrated System for America's Future.

Dr. Keller is the William and Stephanie Sick Dean of the George R. Brown School of Engineering and professor of statistics at Rice University. She is a fellow and past president of the American Statistical Association, a fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a national associate of the National Academy of Sciences. Prior to joining Rice in 2005, she was the group leader for the Statistical Sciences Group at Los Alamos National Laboratory from 1998 to 2005. Prior to her move to Los Alamos, she was professor and director of graduate studies in the Department of Statistics, Kansas State University (KSU). She served as program director for statistics and probability, Division of Mathematical Sciences, the National Science Foundation, from 1994 to 1996. Her areas of research are uncertainty quantification, computational and graphical statistics and related software and modeling techniques, and data access and confidentiality. She received her Ph.D. in statistics from Iowa State University of Science and Technology and her B.S. and M.S. in mathematics from the University of South Florida. She has served on a number of National Academies panels and committees, including as chair of the standing Committee on Applied and Theoretical Statistics (CATS).

>We congratulate Richard Newell on his confirmation as administrator of the Energy Information Administration on July 31, 2009. Dr. Newell is on leave from his position as the Gendell Associate Professor of Energy and Environmental Economics at Duke University's Nicholas School of the Environment. Previously he served as the senior economist for energy and environment on the President's Council of Economic Advisers. He also spent many years as a senior fellow at Resources for the Future (RFF) and has published widely on the economics of markets and policies for energy, the environment, and related technologies, particularly alternatives for reducing greenhouse gas emissions and achieving other energy and environmental goals. He has served on several National Academy of Sciences expert committees related to energy, environment, and innovation. Dr. Newell holds a Ph.D. from Harvard University in environmental and resource economics, a Master's in Public Affairs (M.P.A.) from Princeton's Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, and a B.S. in materials engineering and a B.A. in philosophy from Rutgers University.

>We congratulate Cass Sunstein on his confirmation as administrator of the Office of Information and Regulatory Affairs (OIRA) in the U.S. of Management and Budget on September 11, 2009. OIRA, which houses the Statistical and Science Policy Office, approves all agency information collection requests and reviews all proposed federal regulations. For 27 years, Mr. Sunstein taught at the University of Chicago Law School. He is currently Felix Frankfurter Professor of Law at Harvard Law School, where he is on leave while working in the administration. He has B.A. and J.D. degrees from Harvard University.

> We note with regret the death of Roberta (Robie) Sangster, aged 55, on August 27, 2009, in her home state of Washington. She worked as a survey methodologist at the Bureau of Labor Statistics in Washington, D.C., from 1993 until 2008 and received the BLS Lifetime Achievement Award in 2004 for her dedication to improving BLS survey design. She was a member of the Washington Statistical Society and the American Statistical Association. She was also a member of the Washington Chapter of the Association for Public Opinion Research, which recognized her achievements in 2008 with an award for her outstanding contributions to the field of survey research.

>We note with regret the death of Robert (Bob) Marx, September 7, 2009. He served as chief of the Geography Division at the Census Bureau from 1983 to 2003 (interrupted by a 3-year period as associate director in the 1990s to prepare for the 2000 census). He was the architect of the Census Bureau's TIGER geographic coding and mapping system, which began in the early 1980s as a collaborative effort with the U.S. Geological Survey and made it possible for the first time to generate maps and geocode addresses by using a computerized database that represented physical features, census geography, and street networks for the entire country. During his more than 36-year career at the Census Bureau, he received several awards for exceptional performance, including the Department of Commerce's Gold and Silver Medals, and the Meritorious Presidential Rank Award.

>We congratulate the following recipients of awards:

- Ken Cecco, chief of the Corporation Statistics Branch, Statistics of Income Division, IRS, and Lillian Lin, mathematical statistician, Division of HIV and AIDS Prevention, Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, who jointly received the 2009 Jeanne E. Griffith Mentoring Award. This award's purpose is to encourage the mentoring of junior staff in the federal statistical system and is cosponsored by the Government Statistics and Social Statistics Sections of the American Statistical Association, the Washington Statistical Society, the American Educational Research Association, the Council of Professional Associations on Federal Statistics, and the Interagency Council on Statistical Policy.
- Brian Harris-Kojetin, senior statistician in the Statistical and Science Policy Office at the U.S. Office of Management and Budget, who received an OMB Professional Achievement Award in July 2009.
- Charles (Chuck) Manski, Board of Trustees professor in economics at Northwestern University, who was elected to the National Academy of Sciences at its annual meeting in April 2009. He previously was a faculty member at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, the Hebrew University of Jerusalem, and Carnegie Mellon University. He received his B.S. and Ph.D. in economics from M. I. T. His research spans econometrics, judgment and decision, and the analysis of social policy. For the National Academies, he has been chair of the Committee on Data and Research for Policy on Illegal Drugs and a member of the Board on Mathematical Sciences and their Applications, the Committee on National Statistics, and the Commission on Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education.

- Jean Opsomer, professor of statistics at Colorado State University in Fort Collins, who received the Gertrude M. Cox Award from the Washington Statistical Society and RTI International in June 2009; the award was established in 2003 to recognize statisticians in early to mid-career who have made significant contributions to statistical practice. He has made noteworthy contributions in survey research, environmental statistics, and nonparametric regression and served as a member of the CNSTAT panel that produced the 2007 report, Understanding American Agriculture: Challenges for the Agricultural Resource Management Survey.
- John Rolph, professor of statistics in the Department of Information and Operations Management at the Marshall School of Business, University of Southern California, and former chair of CNSTAT, who received a Distinguished Achievement Award in August 2009 from the Section on Statistics in Defense and National Security of the American Statistical Association. He chaired the CNSTAT panel that produced the 1998 report, Statistics, Testing, and Defense Acquisition: New Approaches and Methodological Improvements, and has served on subsequent panels on using statistical methods in defense acquisition.
- Stephanie Shipp, head of the economics, energy, and environmental research area at the Science and Technology Policy Institute (a federally funded research and development center operated by the Institute for Defense Analyses for the National Science Foundation on behalf of the Office of Science and Technology Policy), who received the 2009 Pat Doyle Award for service to the Government Statistics Section of the American Statistical Association. Prior to joining STPI in 2007, she held positions at the National Institute of Standards and Technology, the U.S. Census Bureau, and the Bureau of Labor Statistics.
- Katherine Wallman, chief statistician and head of the Statistical and Science Policy Office at the U.S. Office of Management and Budget since 1993, who received the Robert G. Damus Award in July 2009, recognizing her enduring commitment to OMB and to the highest principles of the civil service. (Bob Damus was a long-time General Counsel of OMB.)

>We welcome Hermann Habermann to the CNSTAT staff as a temporary part-time senior program officer. Dr. Habermann has consulted with statistical agencies around the world following his retirement from the Census Bureau, where he was deputy director. His prior positions include director of the U.N. Statistics Division and U.S. chief statistician in the Office of Management and Budget. He served on CNSTAT in 1999-2002. For CNSTAT, he will be organizing a public workshop to explore the pros and cons of a federally funded research and development center (FFRDC) to support survey and IT research for the federal statistical system.

>We welcome Edrin Rouse, who is one of 26 Christine Mirzayan Science and Technology Policy Graduate Fellows at the National Academies for the fall term. He will be with CNSTAT through November 25. He is currently completing his Ph.D. in business quantitative methods at North Central University and has more than 17 years of experience spearheading business process improvement efforts in various manufacturing and service industries. He will be assisting Hermann Habermann with the CNSTAT workshop on FFRDCs and Tom Plewes and Judy Koenig with a study for the Department of Education on data sources for allocating funds to states for programs to assist limited-English proficiency students.

>We are looking for a full-time study director—program officer or senior program officer, depending on experience—for one or more new projects this fall, including a comprehensive review for the Energy

Information Administration of the Commercial Business and Residential Energy Consumption Surveys. We welcome suggestions of candidates to consider. For information, the National Academies hires program officers at a salary range that approximates a GS-12 in the DC area; it hires senior program officers at a salary range that approximates a GS-13/14 in the DC area. The job (requisition #090156-4) is posted on the National Academies web site, <http://www.nationalacademies.org/>; look under Careers/Employment/Current Opportunities.

REPORTS RELEASED

>Reengineering the Survey of Income and Program Participation, the final report of the Panel on the Census Bureau's Reengineered SIPP, chaired by John Karl Scholz, was publicly released in prepublication format on July 27, 2009. Free PDFs of the report may be downloaded at http://www.nap.edu/catalog.php?record\_id=12715. Printed copies will be available shortly.

>Printed copies of Ensuring the Quality, Credibility, and Relevance of U.S. Justice Statistics, the final report of the Panel to Review the Programs of the Bureau of Justice Statistics, chaired by Robert Groves, are now available from the National Academies Press. >CNSTAT expresses appreciation to the Board of the American Statistical Association for its endorsement of the committee's "purple book," Principles and Practices for a Federal Statistical Agency, Fourth Edition (2009), as announced in the June 2009 issue of Amstat News. Please let us know if you are interested in ordering copies in bulk, as we can arrange for a discount on the published price of the National Academies Press (see http://www.nap.edu/catalog.php?record\_id=12564).

CNSTAT MEETINGS

110th Meeting of the Committee
Friday, October 30, 2009
NAS Keck Center, 500 5th St, NW, Washington, DC – Room 100
Public Seminar and Reception, 2:00 – 5:00 pm – Please RSVP to cncstat@nas.edu

Topic: CHALLENGES FOR POLICY USES OF ECONOMIC STATISTICS

Abstract: The federal statistical system produces key statistics that are widely used for monitoring the health of the nation's economy and formulating economic policy. Data users want statistics that are up to date, issued frequently (monthly, if possible), of high quality, and that can indicate turning points in the business cycle—a tall order, indeed. David Romer, a member of the National Bureau of Economic Research's "Business Cycle Dating Committee," will describe how that committee uses economic indicators to date peaks and troughs denoting expansions and recessions in the U.S. economy, and where the committee would most like to see data improvements made. A senior official from the administration will discuss how economic statistics are used to determine fiscal policy and what improvements in quality, timeliness, and relevance would be most helpful for this purpose. Senior managers from the key economic statistics-producing agencies, including the Bureau of Economic Analysis, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and the Census Bureau, will offer their perspectives. Key concerns to be addressed by all speakers are the tradeoffs between timeliness of release and quality (as reflected in the magnitude of revisions) and what new or modified indicators could help predict turning points, such as last year's financial collapse.

>We have had several inquiries about CNSTAT's regular meeting schedule and so provide our meeting dates from February 2010 through May 2011:

- CNSTAT's 111th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, February 11-12, 2010, in Washington, DC. There are no public events at this meeting.
- CNSTAT's 112th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, May 6-7, 2010, in Washington, DC. The meeting will include a public seminar on the 7th.
- CNSTAT's 113th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, October 21-22, 2010, in Washington, DC. Note the change from the last to the second-to-last Thu-Fri in October, which will be our formula for future October meetings. The meeting will include a public seminar on the 22nd.
- CNSTAT's 114th meeting will be held Friday and Saturday, February 11-12, 2011, at the Beckman Center in Irvine, CA. There are no public events at this meeting.
- CNSTAT's 115th meeting will be held Thursday and Friday, May 5-6, 2011, in Washington, DC. The meeting will include a public seminar on the 6th.

News from the Committee on National Statistics

Don't forget to register for the CNSTAT seminar, October 30, 2009 [see attached agenda].

PEOPLE NEWS

>We congratulate Joseph Newhouse on receiving the Institute of Medicine's Adam Yarmolinsky Medal, which recognizes the contributions of an IOM member from a discipline outside the health and medical sciences. Dr. Newhouse is John D. MacArthur Professor of Health Policy and Management in the Department of Health Care Policy at Harvard University, a member of CNSTAT, and chair of its Panel to Advance a Research Program on the Design of National Health Accounts. He received his award for having "distinguished himself as a dynamic participant in the IOM and other health-related organizations and as a pre-eminent academic health economist for more than four decades."

>We congratulate Jeanne Brooks-Gunn and Dana Goldman on being elected to membership in the Institute of Medicine. Dr. Brooks-Gunn, Virginia and Leonard Marx Professor of Child Development and Education, Teachers College and College of Physicians and Surgeons, Columbia University, served as a member of the CNSTAT panel that produced the 1995 report, Measuring Poverty—A New Approach. Dr. Goldman, professor and Norman Topping Chair in Medicine and Public Policy, and director, Leonard D. Schaeffer Center for Health Policy and Economics, University of Southern California, Los Angeles, and senior economist, RAND Corp., Los Angeles, is chairing the CNSTAT Workshop on Improving Healthcare Cost Projections for the Medicare Population.

>We congratulate CNSTAT senior program officer Tom Plewes on receiving an individual Distinguished Service Award from the National Academies. Tom has directed close to a dozen consensus panels and workshops since first joining CNSTAT in 2002. The report he oversaw on Measuring Research and Development Expenditures in the U.S. Economy (2005) led to a major new survey, developed cooperatively by the Census Bureau and the NSF Science Resources Statistics Division and first fielded in early 2009—the Business R&D and Innovation Survey (BRDIS).

> We note with regret the death of Marshall Turner, on October 8, 2009, in Upper Marlboro, MD. Marshall was known by many for his work with state governments on the block-level data provided after each census beginning in 1980 for congressional and state legislative redistricting—the "P.L. 94-171 File."

REPORTS RELEASED

>Data on Federal Research and Development Investments: A Pathway to Modernization, the final report of the Panel on Modernizing the Infrastructure of the National Science Foundation Federal Funds Survey, chaired by Christopher Hill, was publicly released in prepublication format on September 30, 2009. Abstract: The federal statistical system produces key statistics that are widely used for monitoring the health of the nation's economy and formulating economic policy. Data users want statistics that are up to date, issued frequently (monthly, if possible), of high quality, and that can indicate turning points in the business cycle—a tall order, indeed. David Romer, a member of the National Bureau of Economic Research's "Business Cycle Dating Committee," will describe how that committee uses economic indicators to date peaks and troughs denoting expansions and recessions in the U.S. economy, and where the committee would most like to see data improvements made. Alan Krueger will discuss how the administration uses economic statistics to determine economic policy and what improvements in quality, timeliness, and relevance would be most helpful for this purpose. Leaders of the key economic statistics-producing agencies, including the Bureau of Economic Analysis, the Bureau of Labor Statistics, and the Census Bureau, will offer their perspectives. Key concerns to be addressed by all speakers are the tradeoffs between timeliness of release and quality (as reflected in the magnitude of revisions) and what new or modified indicators could help predict turning points, such as last year's financial collapse.
